1. Headquarters 2 Battalion, 914 North Korean Army Unit was in five buildings, surrounded by pine trees up to 45 feet in height, at Hwangt'o-san (N 38-09, E 124-53)(X06624). The entire battalion of 300 men was armed with rifles, about 80 percent of which were PPSH's. Other equipment included two 95mm (sic) direct-fire guns, three 90mm (sic) direct-fire guns, three 60mm mortars, four heavy machine guns, four Soviet-made ZIS trucks, 12 horses, one 38-foot wooden boat and three 36-foot wooden boats.¹ 25X1
2. The boats were used to transport supplies to a company of the battalion on Wollae-do (N 38-03, E 124-49)(X06013). Another company was at battalion headquarters, two platoons of the third company were at Oujin-ni (N 38-06, E 124-48)(X05918) and the third platoon was at Monggump'o (N 38-03, E 124-49)(X05627).

1. Comment. No 90mm or 95mm weapons have previously been reported and none are known to be in the hands of Soviet or Satellite field troops. It is doubtful that four boats of the size reported would be used solely for supplying one company of soldiers. 25X1
